DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-48, 50-97, 99-145, and 147 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The amended claims feature a communication server that has an interface to a speech telecommunications network, which handles calls and accesses a corporate information system. The CIS includes storage for corporate information and email servers, and stores user profiles along with the communication server's user-related information. The user-related information is cached on the communication server, and administration is performed on the user-related information on the CIS. Speech terminals are connected to the communications server to access the CIS. Because the user-related information is cached on the communication server from the user profiles of the CIS, and because administration of the user-related information on the CIS takes place, it is believed that the claimed invention is novel. The examiner was unable to obtain prior teachings of such features as claimed by the amended claims and could not render said features of obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, without the use of impermissible hindsight constructions. Additionally, Applicant's remarks regarding the claim amendments and the provided prior art references' deficiencies are persuasive, in that none of the cited references taken singly, or in combination, teaches the claimed features. It is therefore the examiner's belief that the claimed invention does indeed possess novelty.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee, and to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should clearly be labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
